

KERALA ARTS BIENNALE & AYURVEDIC SANCTUARY

20th December 2026 to 1st January 2027

We begin our experience in the beautiful Fort Kochi, the port entrance to magnificent Kerala, South India. Our beautiful heritage hotel sits atop all the activities and you can indulge yourself to your heart's content with limitless experiences. Enjoy the international KOCHI-MUZIRIS ARTS BIENNALE represented by hundreds of artists from within India and from across the world. Munnar is an intensely beautiful tea-growing region of South India and your senses will be indulged. Then superb Ayurveda treatments at our magnificent resort. The word 'Ayurveda' is translated from Sanskrit to mean 'the science of life' and is one of the world's oldest holistic ('whole body') healing systems. It was developed more than 5,000 years ago in India. Ayurveda proponents believe earth, water, fire, air and space make up the universe. Ayurveda philosophy and treatments/medicines are based on the belief that health and wellness depend on a delicate balance between the mind, body, and spirit and consists of several disciplines, including aromatherapy, diet, herbal medicine, acupuncture, yoga, massage, meditation and balancing of energies.

Fort Kochi comes alive during the Biennale, an international art event that began as a government initiative. The Department of Cultural Affairs of Kerala enlisted artists Riyas Komu and Bose Krishnamachari to create a global platform for Indian art.
